

Guidelines for Westcreek and Stassney Fields

To provide a safer and less disruptive environment for all Austin United Capitals teams while training at Westcreek and Stassney fields, the following guidelines will take effect during the 2004-2005 season. These guidelines will limit the liability of the club and keep our youngsters protected:

- a. We ask that all parents, siblings, and players not involved in a training session, occupy the outside perimeter of the fields only. The purple shaded area in the diagram (for Westcreek fields) below will be off-limits to spectators. This will maximize our very limited practice space, keep bystanders from being hit by an errant shot, and still allow parents to observe their children.
- b. We also ask that you access the fields from the outside perimeter as well. Please do not allow your players or other children to cross one field to get to another. Some of our younger players tend to run across fields where our older kids are training making for a potentially dangerous situation.

These guidelines are for the Westcreek and Stassney fields during weekday training sessions. We hope to create a safer training environment that should enhance the training experience by promoting a professional, well-organized atmosphere within the perimeter area.

The Austin United Capitals coaching staff would like to thank you for your support in this matter.
